Nick Collins

Collins Corporation Limited

To whom this may concern

Nick originally became associated with me as an ex roofer who had a passion towards roofers working safely at height. An individual, who has also experienced a fall, and a number of near misses.

Nick became associated with me 10 years ago with a determination enhancing safety systems whilst working on roofs. A path to standardizing roof anchor systems. He has designed, tested and challenged competitors in the development of these safety anchors. His designs which challenged Standards to the point they have amended the design requirements of roof anchors.

Nick has achieved major safety awards through his tireless self determination to achieve his aim in the design and supply roof anchor systems.

Nick has also volunteered his services to organisations which have a focus towards height safety initiatives. He brings to such organisations experience, professionalism and knowledge.

Nicks commitment to height safety has impressed me as well as my staff and associates. I have enjoyed the last 10 years of Nick's association and look forward to the next 10 years.
